For years GeaCom has been providing service to leading health centers such as Mayo Clinic, Health Partners, North Memorial, Hennepin Health and others. In isolated use cases, medical studies have shown efficacy, completion rates, population coverages, reduced readmissions and more. To date a study on the full conversion of a health system to the CITE Method GeaCom provides has not been done.

Eide Bailly has been supporting innovation and efficiency in healthcare, nationally for nearly a century. They have worked with “point solutions” that address incremental change and efficiency in the service. Their expertise on workflow, change management and bottomline improvements is extensive but they have not identified a holistic solution to streamlining care. It is time to take the big play and measure system-wide influence on efficacy, efficiency and compliance.

Together GeaCom and Eide Bailly are implementing the CITE Method throughout an entire health system. The Solution is the first to provide system-wide Civil Rights and ADA coverages while also streamlining all processes. GeaCom is implementing the technology, Eide Bailly is overseeing and measuring results and outcomes. This model health system is participating as an open demonstration site for other facilities. The result is an answer to the challenges of population coverages, staff shortages, equity of care, economic efficiencies and streamlined infrastructure.
